Stable year-on-year expenses

Quarterly OPEX development

NOK million

Salary and personnel expenses

- NOK 5 million lower Salary and personnel expenses, of which NOK 3 is from lower fixed salaries and NOK 2 million from higher capitalization of own R&D
- NOK 7 million higher share option related costs, mainly from share price increase driving social security accruals

Other Operating expenses

- NOK 1 million higher costs overall, no major changes in the main sub-categories

NOK 318 million in cash distributed to shareholders in Q2 2025

Cash flow bridge Q2 2025

NOK million

- Distributed cash to shareholders through dividend and share buyback
– Remaining NOK 42 million of share buyback program is completed as of this report in Q3 2025
- Somewhat lower operating cash flow y-o-y which is mainly due to normalization from very strong Q1 2025
- NOK 10 million investment cash flow (+2 million y-o-y), mainly from capitalization of own software development

¹ Includes fair value adjustments on money market funds
Note: Free cash flow defined as the sum of operating cash flow, investment cash flow and lease payments

Comments Q2 2025

ARR

- Delta ARR of 3.5 MUSD, driven by good growth in Secure & Custom across new and existing customers (+27% y-o-y)
- Annual ARR growth of 11% p.a.

Revenue

- 6% increase in year-on-year revenue due to ARR increase, negative impact from stronger NOK/USD exchange rate

Operational costs

- COGS reduction driven by one-time rebates from cloud vendors and operational efficiencies
- Slight increase in Salary and personnel expenses from a combination of higher share-based compensation (NOK 15 million) and a slight reduction in cash-based compensation (NOK 150 million)
- Stable Other OPEX

Other items

- Positive net financials resulting from interest on cash holdings as well as positive foreign exchange differences
- Lower operating cash flow in Q2 due to some reversal of the large working capital reduction in Q1 2025. First half is still significantly better than 2024.
